DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's July 14, 2003 Appeal Brief has been received. The Final Office Action of January 15, 2003 is withdrawn pursuant to the discovery of other prior art. The Examiner regrets this, but the action is viewed as reasonable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goldhaber et al, US 5,794,210.

Goldhaber discloses a method of targeting confidential intellectual property comprising providing a consumer station 104, an industry station software agent 110 and a financial clearinghouse station 108 that may send survey information, e.g. claims 24, 56. Goldhaber does not explicitly disclose a host station. It would appear inherent that the clearinghouse station 108 functions as a host station to determine interest in the selected intellectual property in Goldhaber.

Nonetheless, to have provided for the clearinghouse station 108 to function as a host station to determine interest in the selected intellectual property in Goldhaber would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. It is noted that the particular type of intellectual property selected would be a design choice as thousands, or more, of survey type information is common knowledge within the art, as is providing an Internet site and processor backed work stations remote from the Internet site.

4. Further pertinent references of interest are noted on the attached PTO-892.
